Mobile 101 series puts Salo into the limelight

The drama series shot in Salo chronicles Nokia's first steps towards international success.

Salo will get nationwide visibility this spring as MTV3 starts airing the Mobile 101 (Finnish title: Made in Finland) series that tells the story of the Nokia mobile phone manufacturer. The series has been shot on-location at places such as the old Nokia facilities at what is now the IoT Campus in Salo. The series has also been shot at the Hotel Fjalar in Salo and the old OP Bank in Kuusjoki.

Mobile 101 is a drama series based on true events depicting the rise of Nokia to international success. The series has six episodes and concerns the period 1988–1990. The main characters include young lawyers, brilliant engineers and a progressive CEO, who all contributed to Nokia's rise to the world's biggest mobile phone manufacturer.

An armchair trip to Salo – followed by a real one

The cast of the show include some of today's most interesting actors, including Satu-Tuuli Karhu, Emil Kihlström, Aku Sipola, Oona Airola and Sampo Sarkola. The series was written and directed by Maarit Lalli. The series was first aired on the C More streaming service in spring 2022.

Why not check out the Finnish top series this spring and take an armchair trip to Salo the way it was a few decades back? After watching the series, it's time to plan a real trip to Salo. You can sense the Nokia atmosphere at the Salo Electronics Museum, located fairly close to the IoT Campus. The Museum's Made in Salo Exhibition includes a production cell from the Nokia mobile phone factory.

The Astrum Centre, the historical Salora television factory, offers culture, experiences and office spaces!

Lunch and private banquet restaurant Mama's offers lunch and delicacies for celebrations and private. At Hanhivaara, Salo's biggest sports centre, you can play various ball games such as padel and badminton, use a gym and take part in group exercise classes. Exit Games Salos has 3 escape rooms. Salo Electronics Museum presents the history of the electronics industry in Salo. Theatre Provinssi offers culture. Play for fun or compete with others at our bowling alley. Visit an osteopath at Praxia for holistic physical care.

The banquet hall Areena's facilities include a full-sized stage with audio equipment and lights as well as a licensed bar. The theatre hall has a rising auditorium. We also have smaller conference rooms, including one with a sauna. Ask for our full activity programme for many more things to experience, including our house band, live karaoke and poker nights. We have options for exercise, wellness and culture that will not break your budget! End your event by staying in one of the spacious rooms of Hotel Salora.

Dozens of companies from various industries operate at the Astrum Centre, including Solar Finland that manufactures its solar panels in the same building, which we also use to respond to a lot of our electricity needs. If you are looking for an office space in Salo, you're warmly welcome to the Astrum Centre!

28 January–23 April The 90th Anniversary of Turku Printmakers Association – Printed Worlds

Printed Worlds provides an overview of the current state and methods of printmaking in Turku and the rest of Finland. The exhibition has been curated by artist, printmaker Juha Joro, and it includes works by twelve members of Turku Printmakers Association: Annika Dahlsten, Markku Haanpää, Katri Ikävalko, Sirkku Ketola, Heli Kurunsaari, Miina Laine, Teija Lehto, Sara Manninen, Laura Miettinen, Tiina Vainio, Hanna Varis and Jirko Viljanen.

6 May–10 September Gertrude Bell and Meeri Koutaniemi: Hidden Freedom

The summer exhibition presents a dialogue between the documentary photographers Gertrude Bell (1868–1926) and Meeri Koutaniemi (b. 1987). Bell was a British artist who worked as an explorer, author, political officer, archaeologist and spy in the early 20th century. Koutaniemi has gained renown for her photographs that deal with social topics and human rights issues. The exhibition displays documentation produced by the two photographers in the same Middle Eastern and Asian countries in two different eras.

30 September 2023–7 January 2024 Jarno Vesala

Jarno Vesala (b. in 1977) is known for his installations combining sound, moving image and human figures. The artworks are based on observation and illusion, and they create an atmosphere that is mystical, even suspenseful. The viewer plays an important role in the course of events. The artwork is simultaneously a static, three-dimensional photograph and a scene that unfolds around the viewer. Vesala uses small gestures to ask questions about the human condition.

This former granary illustrates the history of Halikko region on three floors through farming and craft occupations. The museum also displays the Count Armfelt weapons collection and has an exhibition depicting life and history at the Halikko district mental hospital.

Kreivimäki Outdoor Museum, Viurilantie 34, 24910 Halikko

On top of a high hill, a smock mill dating back to the 1800s still stands on its original location. The mill was originally the property of the Vuorentaka Manor. The area also includes loft storehouse and granary as well as a miller's croft from the 1700s. The croft is private property. The museum area can be freely explored all year round.

Meritalo museum, Moisioinkatu 18, Salo

Meritalo has been serving as a museum for 50 years this year. The museum is located in the centre of the old Salo, in the Moisio neighbourhood. The atmospheric former school building showcases a classroom as well as an apartment of a teacher family from the late 19th, early 20th century. Refresh yourself in the lush museum garden and familiarise yourself with old, traditional plants. You can also visit the garden outside the museum's opening hours. The joyful Entten tentten ("Eeny, meeny") exhibition of summer 2023 takes visitors to the happy world of play and toys.

Perniö museum, Museotie 9, Perniö

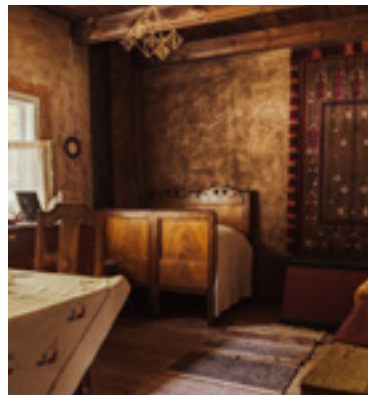

The exhibition in the museum completed in 1930 showcases the rich history of Perniö region and life in the area. In the summer of 2023, a new changing exhibition, Perniöön ja takaisin – sukumme naiskohtaloita ("To Perniö and Back Again – the fates of women in our family"), opens at the museum, telling the interesting story of visual artist Aurora Reinhart and her mother, ceramic artist Catharina Kajander.

Trömperi Inn, Vanha Turuntie 1326, Hajala

The idyllic Trömperi is located along the Kuninkaantie road and has attracted many a traveller to come and rest within its walls over the years. According to legend, counts and royalty used to visit the Trömperi inn on their hunting and fishing trips. The building was owned by the same family all the way until 1971, at which point the buildings and all their items were bequeathed to museum use. Trömperi is protected under the Act on the Protection of the Built Heritage. A person with a backpack stands on a rocky shore, looking out over a calm lake towards a bright sunset. The sun is low on the horizon, creating a warm orange glow across the sky and reflecting on the water. The person is seen from behind, standing on large, dark rocks. The background shows a dense forest of trees across the lake. The overall mood is peaceful and scenic.

Teijo National Park and the region's lively Ironworks Villages

Get enchanted by the peace of nature, go for a hike, paddle, take a dip in the water and continue your trek. Experience a whole range of delightful cultural history at the vibrant ironworks villages where activities are organised around the year.

Three ironworks, Mathildedal, Teijo and Kirjakkala, once operated right next to the Teijo National Park, by the sea. Densely populated village communities formed around the ironworks in the 1600s and 1800s. Today, the villages are a major culture-historical destination combining history, art and craftsmanship. The unique atmosphere, versatile leisure time activities and rich culture of the villages draw in visitors from near and far.

Immerse yourself in the history of the ironworks villages at captivating events

In the spring, as nature starts to bloom, Teijon Masuuni will organise the Ruukki Kukki – old-timey handicrafts market on 27 May. This is a great day for getting to know the history of the Teijo ironworks milieu. See vendor booths for craft items and local food as well as summer flowers, saplings and herbs and pop up foods. Teijo Masuuni's high-quality art exhibitions, café and shops are also open. The Teijo Church, Finland's smallest stone-built church, also has an open day.

Get to know the cultural heritage of the Mathildedal Ironworks on the Ironworks Day 26 August. Already held for the thirteenth time, the event offers guided ironworks tours, lectures, music, traditional games for children and artisans' market where you can buy local crafts. In the autumn, the historical museum of the Mathildedal Ironworks is turned into the Ghost Museum for a little over two weeks. The scary Ghost Museum includes activities for the whole family and is open every day from 14 to 31 October. Lights, music and props are used to create a special atmosphere to the museum.

Hustle and bustle meets the peace of nature

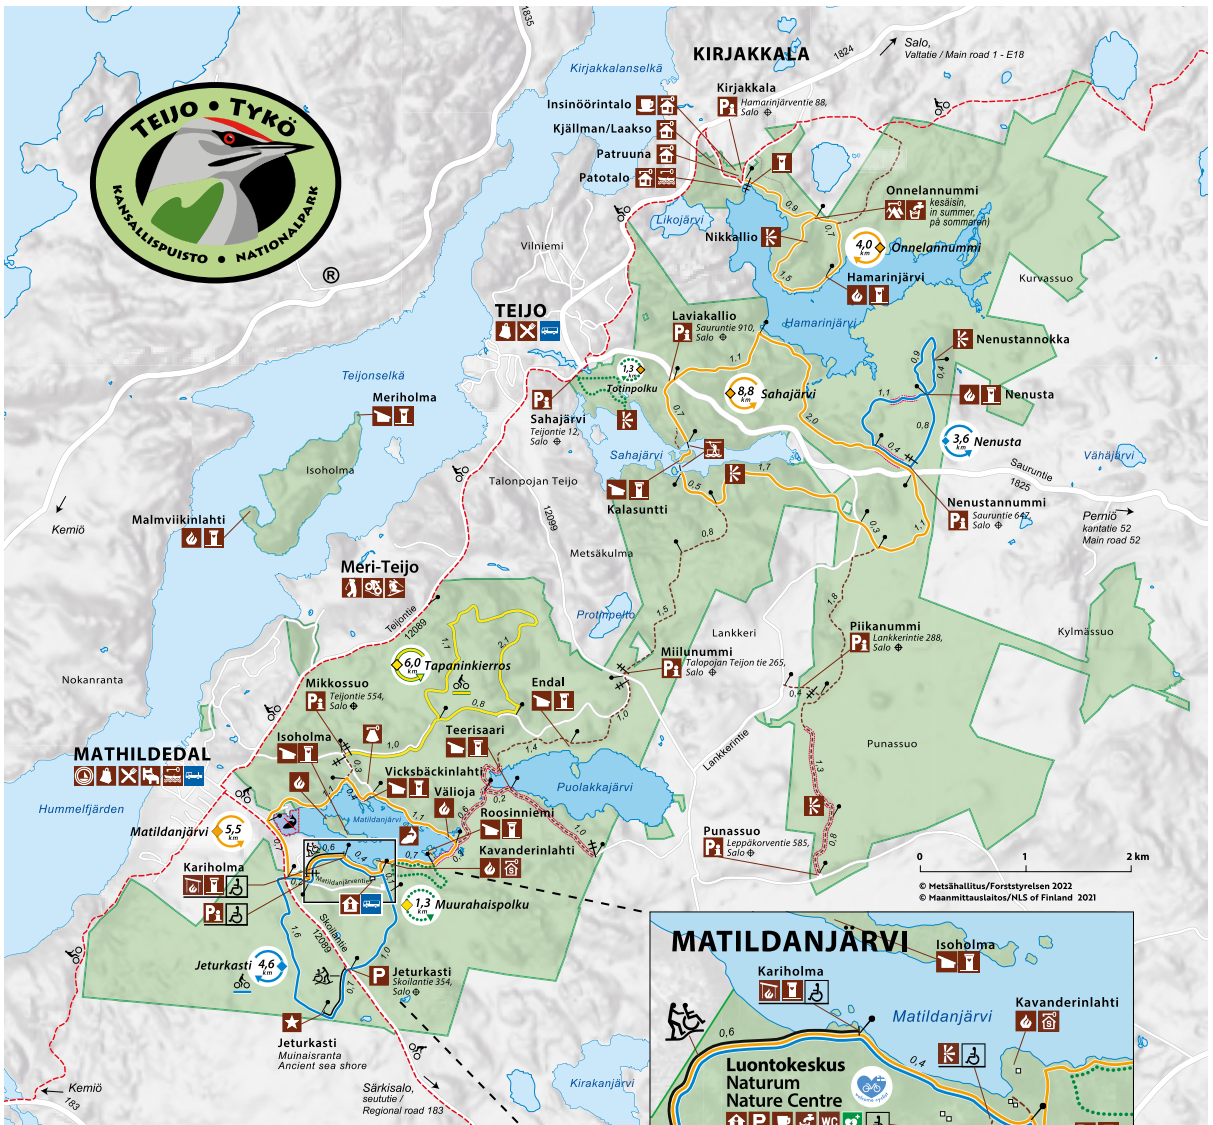

There is plenty to see and experience at the ironworks villages. Its cafés, restaurants, shops and museums welcome all visitors. The art exhibitions at Teijon Masuuni are open year-round with the exception of midwinter. Free admission. See summer theatre performances and experience live music at the Mathildedal Ironworks Village, for example in the Mathildan Marina and village restaurant Terho. There is yoga on the pier and singing bowl relaxation exercises at Mathildan Marina every Wednesday from 28 June to 2 August. Read more about the activities offered at the ironworks villages on the following pages.

Nature lovers should also definitely visit the Teijo National Park. The national park area has in total around 50 kilometres of marked trails. Even on a short trek, you can see stark rocks, lake scenery, peat and forest. The area also has campfire sites, lean-tos and fishing spots.

Ironwork villages prepare for Christmas

Get a head start on Christmas at the ironworks village Christmas market. Try tasty treats and buy high-quality crafts and food products from local producers. The Mathildedal Christmas Market is organised on 25 November and 2 December at 1 p.m.–7 p.m. During the event, the whole Mathildedal village is decorated for Christmas and all the shops, cafés and restaurants are open. Come over to shop, enjoy a Christmas meal or try traditional rise porridge. Christmas-themed activities are organised for children. You can also get Belgian hot chocolate, which has become a huge hit, at the market. You'll find enough things to spend the whole day at the outdoor event so you better dress warmly.

You can also experience enchanted Christmas at the artisans' Christmas market organised by Teijon Masuuni. The two-day Teijon Masuuni Christmas Market is held on 2–3 December at 11 a.m.–4 p.m. The market is organised in heated indoor spaces and an atmospheric yard of the idyllic Teijo ironworks milieu. Artisans and their products play the main role at the market. The Christmas Market provides a great way to support Finnish crafts and local production by buying high-quality hand-made products to give as Christmas presents and decorate your home with straight from the makers. The art exhibitions, café, art and crafts shop and other shops of Teijon Masuuni are also open during the event.

The old factory buildings, sincere and heartfelt service and the lush green surroundings offer experiences, tranquillity and rustic beauty for all senses.

Natura Viva offers services at Teijo Nature Centre

Located next to the beautiful lake Matildanjärvi, Teijo Nature Centre offers a gateway to the beautiful forest landscapes of the national park. Teijo Ironworks Village

The idyllic Teijo Ironworks Village brilliantly combines diverse natural beauty with cultural heritage and a vibrant village community.

The immediate proximity of the sea, the 18th century manor milieu, the rolling, forested landscape of Teijo National Park with its rocks, lakes and rapids, and the versatile range of services, culture and events provided by the village all come together to make Teijo a unique destination.

Culturally and historically, the most significant regional sights are found right in the middle of the village: Teijo stone church, the rococo-style Teijo Manor with its outbuildings, and the old blast furnace of the ironworks. Just a stone's throw away lies the fairytale-like Sahajärvi Nature Reserve that consists of the former parks and forests of the manor and is known as the pearl of the national park.

All year round, there is much to see and experience for the entire family, such as art exhibitions at Gallery Teijon Masuuni, handicrafts and Christmas markets, Teijo's Midsummer festivities, and an old time market.

Teijon Masuuni – art, history and delicacies

The centre of art and handicrafts in the heart of an old ironworks village with a blast furnace founded in 1686. Location in the historical and maritime milieu right by the Teijo Manor and church and next to the Teijo National Park.

Art gallery, café, art and handicraft shop. Changing art exhibitions and events. Sweet and savoury pastries baked at the café by the stone wall of the old furnace. Office spaces for rent for entrepreneurs from various industries. Convenient hostel-style accommodation is available in the Masuunin Majatalo Guesthouse. We also welcome groups!

Teijo Church

Teijo Church is Finland's smallest stone church. The story goes that Robert Bremer built the church in 1829 as a token of gratitude since the flood he had predicted did not materialise.

Designed by Bremer and reminiscent of Chinese pagodas, the stone church was placed near the manor, on a hill dominating the village view.

Kirjakkala Ironworks Village

Kirjakkala is located by the trail networks of Teijo National Park, and by two lakes and the sea.

The log buildings in Kirjakkala Ironworks Village are from the 19th century and they have been restored to their original appearance. They are located in the middle of a stunning grove. The old, tall oak and linden trees provide shade on hot summer days, and the river flowing through the yard area creates a peaceful, rustic atmosphere. While strolling in the ironworks manor's hazel garden, you can almost smell the old ironmaster's cigar.

Teijo National Park offers a fantastic setting with its trails, mushrooms and berries, beaches and campfire sites.

Onnelannummi trail 4 kilometres / 1.5–2.5 hours

The trail starts near Kirjakkala village. After walking for less than one kilometre, you will reach the Onnelannummi pine heath with its reservable camping area available for groups.

Vibrant life in the archipelago in Särkisalo

The sea, beaches, guest harbours and cliffs with gorgeous views and idyllic summer cafés and restaurants make Särkisalo the perfect holiday destination for anyone who loves to spend time in the archipelago. There is plenty to do and see until late autumn, when the traditional Baltic Herring Festival takes place.

Summer is a vibrant time in Särkisalo, the southernmost point of Salo. This is when the area's number of inhabitants grows four-fold as those with summer cottages come to spend time in their holiday dwellings. The harbors are also filled with boats. Visitors can enjoy local delicacies on the terraces of summer cafés and restaurants in a beautiful nature scenery. Särkisalo is surrounded by the sea and the area has diverse tree species. Buildings painted with red ochre peeking out here and there are sure to catch your eye. The authentic archipelago atmosphere is perfect for enjoying a summer's day.

Get to know Särkisalo on a day trip

Särkisalo consists of a small strip of land and numerous islands. There are places worth visiting on all the bigger islands. Go on a day trip by car, boat, kayak or even bicycle. Indeed, the road from the mainland to Pettu is part of the Coastal Route. When you leave from the mainland, you will first arrive at Isoluoto, from where the road will take you through the Niksaari and Ulkoluoto islands to the Pettu island. You also get to enjoy a short trip on the sea along the route, as a ferry operates between Pettu and Ulkoluoto.

You can also explore Särkisalo by foot. The Liars' Benches located along nature trails in Särkisalo are great for taking a break and stopping for a chat. The benches are the result of the villagers' joint effort and will be placed outside in May. The rumour is that a tall tale or two may have been told on the benches now and then. Many of the benches are located by the sea. Sit down to look what the birds are doing or watch the boats passing by.

Tourists are pampered in Särkisalo: there is lots to do, including charter cruises, canoeing trips, kayaking rentals and tailored fishing trips as well as instructed yoga classes on the beach and saunas for rent. There are many places for getting a meal and a cup of coffee, and you can watch the sunset at the end of the day from the terraces or a rock with great views to the surrounding nature. If you want to experience more, you can rent a cabin.

Summer season culminates with the Night of the Ancient Bonfires

The atmospheric Night of the Ancient Bonfires brings together cottage dwellers and island inhabitants on Saturday 26 August. Events are organised around Särkisalo, including in the village centre area, Förby, and Niksaari. Just like in previous years, many of the summer restaurants in Särkisalo offer live music, fire shows and fireworks. The celebration dates back to a time when seafarers were guided to land using beacon fires lit on the shore.

Delicacies and a great atmosphere at the Baltic Herring Festival

Särkisalo, once known as a fishing village, is naturally also known for its great fishing waters. Fishing continues to be popular in the area. The Baltic Herring Festival organised at the Tiirantori square is centred around locally fished herrings that are guaranteed to be fresh and fished by the local Meripirtti club, which also organises the event. At the Baltic Herring Festival, both locals and visitors get to exchange pleasantries in a joyful market atmosphere. Pastries, crafts and farmers' products are also sold at the event. Everyone is welcome to visit the Baltic Herring Festival on 14 October at 11 a.m.–2 p.m.

From spring to late autumn, sauna, swimming, boating, fishing and walking in the forest, picking mushrooms and berries are our main attractions. We have rowboats for free use and small outboard motors for rent. There is a boat ramp and a jetty on the shore. Historical Halikko

Halikko provides tourists with a large range of culture and history flavoured with a modern twist. In October, the Pumpkin Weeks bring an atmosphere and fantastic experiences to the region.

In Halikko, history meets the present day, and the area offers everything from culture to manor life and ancient history to contemporary high-quality products to visitors. The area has a variety of unique restaurants, idyllic cafés, culture and manors and accommodation surrounded by beautiful nature.

Pop into Design Hill for their great range of interior design items and take a trip back in time on the Rikalanmäki Ancient Trail. Visit the Wiurila manor to see the buildings designed by Engel and a fantastic museum selection.

If you're planning an autumn trip to Halikko, you should see it in October, when the Pumpkin Weeks create a great atmosphere and fantastic experiences in the area. The pumpkin park at the Rannikko garden in Halikko is at the centre of the Pumpkin Week activities, inviting visitors to admire thousands of grimacing jack-o'-lanterns. Many of the local cafés, restaurants and other partners participate in the Pumpkin Week.

"Last year, 1,800 jack-o'-lanterns were lit at the same time in the pumpkin park. During the two-week event, there were around 12,000 pumpkins in the area", says Esa Rannikko, a garden entrepreneur.

Aesthetic experiences and delicious flavours

The pumpkin park, which will be built for the fifth time this year, has been growing every year. The area has been expanded to the Halikonjoki shores, and jack-o'-lanterns also cover the rails of the old Halikko bridge.

"The old museum bridge suits the spirit of the event well, and the surrounding milieu creates an air of dignity for the event", Rannikko notes.

Along with expanding the area, the presentation of the lanterns and other props has evolved. The pumpkins have been carved with more and more skill each year, and the created creatures tickle visitors' imagination. According to Rannikko, the event is getting better each year.

"Seeing people enjoy it makes me excited about it as well. The audience is already waiting to see what new things we'll come up with this year. We have plans to take the event to yet another level", Rannikko smiles.

In addition to aesthetic experiences and a great atmosphere, the Pumpkin Park offers delicious flavours. Every year, at least one new pumpkin-based product is sold at the event.

"Last year, the most popular product was definitely the pumpkin sausage, closely followed by pumpkin waffles. Pumpkin pizza and various pumpkin pastries have also been popular", Rannikko says.

An event that puts a smile on your face, whatever your age

In just a few years, the Halikko Pumpkin Park has become a phenomenon that people flock to admire from around Finland and even abroad.

Up to tens of thousands of people may visit the event in a single day. The total number of visitors to the two-week event is over 100,000. People come to visit the Pumpkin Park days and nights, as it stays open 24 hours a day.

The Pumpkin Park has established itself as a place sure to put a smile on your face, offering experiences for everyone regardless of their age and gender. Rannikko is happy that the event seems to stand the test of time.

"Experiences and food will always stay in fashion. The pumpkin park combines a farm vibe with historical harvest festival activities, and all this madness seems to have a certain kind of magic", he laughs.

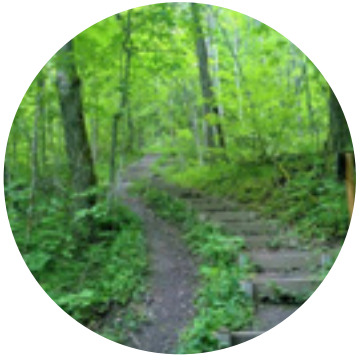

The Pumpkin Week is celebrated from 9 to 22 October.

A nighttime photograph of Salo city centre. In the background, a large Ferris wheel is illuminated with colorful lights. In the foreground, a boat with warm interior lighting is on a canal, with its lights reflecting in the water. A bridge with blue LED lighting is visible in the middle ground. The sky is a deep blue.

City centre full of art and entertainment

Salo city centre offers a marketplace atmosphere and other great shopping places, a wide selection of restaurants and versatile accommodation. The evening markets organised in the summer, the Night of the Arts and plenty of other events provide entertainment and culture to suit all tastes.

Enjoy competent service, great product ranges and a laid-back atmosphere at the Salo marketplace, shopping centres and unique brick-and-mortar shops. You'll get to Salo in no time by train from Turku or Helsinki, and the city provides free parking for drivers.

While shopping, you can discover Salo's vibrant restaurant culture that invites you to enjoy pure flavours and locally prepared delicacies.

Summer tourists should head to the Salo Marketplace, the city's number one place for encounters during the summer. The evening markets organised on Thursdays let you enjoy a marketplace atmosphere, local delicacies, thrift store finds and of course top performers.

– There's a great atmosphere in the evening marketplace. The evening concerts of such highly well-known performers are unique in both the Finnish and global scale, says Antti Ketonen, the chair of Salo Evening Markets.

Last years performers stirring up the audience included Popeda, an old favourite band that attracted a massive 17,000 visitors to the Salo marketplace. This was the record audience for the evening market.

–During the summer, around 100,000 people visited the evening markets. The audience always includes a lot of locals and people from the surrounding region, but some also travel to the market from further away, even from Sodankylä, Ketonen says.

In addition to the evening markets, there is also a lot more to see at the marketplace during the summer. Children's Song City entertains the whole family in early summer, and on Sundays, there live music is played at the marketplace.

The Night of the Arts provides culture for all

When the summer starts to turn into autumn, the Salo City Centre turns into an oasis of art and culture. The Night of the Arts event organised for the fifth time this year will bring a wide range of culture and different forms of art to Salo.

The Night of the Arts is a one-day event open to all that covers the whole art field. The event includes lots of things to do for children, adults and older people alike, says Sanna Jousi from the EtnoSalo association that was the main organiser of the event.

The Night of the Arts is created in collaboration with dozens of local associations. Salo's whole cultural sector is represented at the event. The wide group of organisers is reflected in the versatile programme.

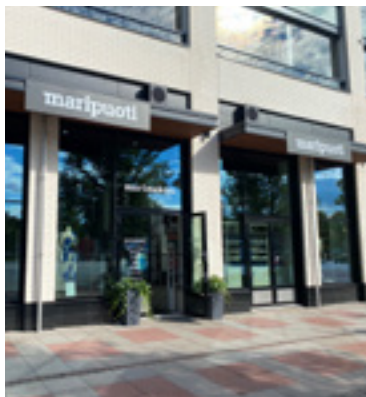

–The cooperation of various agents results in interesting, cross-cultural ideas and productions. This is definitely an advantage of the Night of the Arts, Jousi notes.

The Salo City Centre is the main arena for the event, and many of the activities are organised near the marketplace. Over the years, the event has also spread outside the core area all the way to Perniö and Halikko.

This year, the Night of the Arts will take over Salo on Thursday 31 August. Jousi encourages people to participate in the event from near and far.

– At the event, you'll get access to lots of culture free of charge and see something you wouldn't normally get to be a part of, such as the practices of theatre groups. There are activities throughout the day and something for everyone.

Uskela Church

The Uskela Church is located on a high hill. A small stone church belonging to the chapel parish of Salo had been built there in 1440.

This chapel of Saint Anna was later demolished and its stones were used to build the new church. The church that stands in the location today was completed in 1832 and was designed by C.L. Engel, who was the most-well known architect of his time.

Teijo Church

Located in the Teijo Ironworks, Teijo Church is Finland's smallest stone church. The master of the Teijo Ironworks, the ironmaster Robert Bremer, commissioned this stone church resembling a Chinese pagoda in 1829.

Halikko Church

The Halikko Church was completed around 1440. The church is dedicated to Bridget of Sweden. In the early 19th century, the two-nave rectangular church was transformed into a cross-shaped church.

The Church of Saint Lawrence

This grey granite church located in Perniö and dedicated to Saint Lawrence was built in the 15th century, during the Middle Ages.

The vaults of the three-naved church are covered with paintings dating back to late 15th century.

In the sports park, you can skateboard on a concrete ramp, swim, ride horses, work out at the outdoor gym, take up athletics, ice skate in the ice hall, ski, golf, bowl, play tennis, padel, basketball or football, do a stair workout and use outdoor gym equipment. Salo has a number of outdoor gyms. Read more at salo.fi/ulkokuntoilulaitteet. The exercise area and Pahkavuori disc golf course at Uskela school are just a short walk from the Sports Park. Salo has 9 disc golf courses, with more on the way.

Salo Sports Park also has a popular playground, Family Park. Out of all the playgrounds in Salo, Family Park offers the most variety. Climb high on Family Park's climbing frames and imagine you are a superhero. Spin yourself dizzy or reach for the sky in the swings. Make music, build a sand castle or have a picnic break. The fenced park area has toilet facilities and an accessible play area designed to suit the needs of persons with disabilities or impaired vision.

Salo Swimming Pool has a 30-metre water slide, a cold pool and diving towers (1.3 and 5 metres) which attract children and adolescents to the well-lit swimming centre and its wide variety of activities. The youngest members of the family have their own 30-degree kids' pool, where they can play with water toys and slide down a kid-sized water slide. The swimming pool organises kids' activities and water gymnastics which are open to all. There are heated therapeutic and recreational pools with massaging water jet stations, as well as two 25-metre pools. In front of the swimming pool, you can admire an impressive work of art, namely Pekka Jylhä's Joy, a gigantic and colourful beach ball.

Move to Salo!

Swap an expensive life for a rich one

Check what we have on offer – Salo has a variety of employment opportunities and you can buy a house for the price of a studio in Helsinki. The location is excellent – the motorway takes you to Turku in just over 30 minutes and to the Helsinki region in slightly over an hour.

If your job is outside Salo, you can get to work comfortably, quickly, and affordably by train, bus or even carpooling – and the commute is still no longer than for those living in the Helsinki region.

Furthermore, Salo offers great opportunities for remote working.

Find out what is like to live in Salo and read the experiences of those who have moved here at Saloon.fi

A woman with blonde hair, wearing a dark blue winter jacket with a fur-lined collar, a black knit beanie with a white pattern and a small white logo, and tan gloves, is smiling and looking off to the side. She is standing in a snowy forest with tall evergreen trees in the background. The text 'Back to Salo' is overlaid on the image.

Back to Salo

Jonna Saari moved back to Salo after spending eight years in Lapland. Salo's diverse nature and versatile hiking destinations appeal to Jonna.

Jonna Saari's return to Salo was a sum of many parts. While Saari and her partner continued to have love for Lapland, they were looking to turn a new page in their lives. The uncertainty brought by the pandemic and the fact that their safety nets were located far away also influenced their decision.

– Our daily lives were wonderful in Lapland, but we had no safety nets there and lived far from any services. The distance to the nearest shop was 30 kilometres and to the health centre 50 kilometres, Saari explains. Saari moved to Salo with her partner in June 2022. Now, the couple lives in the Kurkela neighbourhood of Kisko, Salo, in an old detached house that used to belong to Saari's grandparents.

– Here, we can continue the same peaceful lifestyle we led in Lapland, as Salo has such an extensive and peaceful rural area. Despite this, services are located nearby. We're a bit reclusive, so this suits us well, Jonna says and smiles.

Esker landscape and green groves

For Saari, nature is a respite and a lifeline. What appeals to her in Salo are the area's diverse nature and varying terrain. There are highlands covered by pine forest, verdant groves, lakes and ponds as well as esker landscapes and the archipelago.

– Having a national park right here in Salo is obviously a huge luxury, but there's also a lot more to see in the area. There are enough places to explore to last a lifetime in Salo and its neighbouring municipalities. Just grab a map and see what you can find here, Saari encourages.

Saari likes to spend her leisure time wandering in nature. Her favourite destinations include the Vaisakko Nature Reserve and Hyppärä esker, the home of the Kultalähde spring, one of the most remarkable springs in Southern Finland.

– The esker landscape with all its forests is a sight to behold. The Vaisakko grove has a great atmosphere and has massive, awe-inspiring trees.

Watching the Milky Way and visiting flea markets

The Pohjan-Kisko lake highlands is another of Saari's favourite nature destinations. This forest area embellished by lakes, ponds and rocks is great for camping. The area is also apt for watching the Milky Way on dark winter's nights.

– With all the light pollution these days, getting to see the Milky way is invaluable. You can see it so clearly from the Pohjan-Kisko highlands that it boggles the mind. I highly recommend enjoying this gorgeous wintry sight, Saari notes.

In addition to enjoying the nature destinations, Saari also encourages visitors to discover Salo's flea markets. As an avid flea market goer, Saari has noticed that Salo is an excellent destination for second hand shop enthusiasts. Flea markets in Salo include Kirppis Aarresaari, Radiokirppis and the Next Level Second Hand Shop.

– We have amazing flea markets around here. The distance to Salo from Turku and Helsinki is short, and the best thing is that parking costs nothing here.
